The route of the Kasbahs, in the south of the High Atlas, is a tour of some citadels built with crude earth (Mud) together with their walled towers and ornaments with geometric motifs. You should know that these Berber art monuments are unique in the world. They are located in a junction between the desert and the mountain, where the landscape is full of contrast between red and ochre colors, great luminosity, and silence. Then we continued towards the Dades Gorges that we will climb for a few kilometers to discover unique scenery, where the green of the vegetation and the ochre-colored rock are the protagonists. Dinner and a night in a nice riad

The march will resume, and you will board the vehicle until you reach your destination, the Sahara Desert. Once in the place, you will have the opportunity to experience adventures in the desert, like going through the roads of Paris Dakar, seeing different wildlife, or washing your feet in nomadic wells until you end up in the dunes of Erg-Chebbi.
